

AGENDA - ACADEMIC WORKSHOP

INTERCULTURAL RELATIONS IN THE MEDITERRANEAN BETWEEN RESEARCH AND PRACTICE

Presentation and debate around the results of the Anna Lindh Report 2018 on Intercultural Trends and Social Change in the Euro-Mediterranean Region and civil society experience

THURSDAY, 15 NOVEMBER 2018 - THE UNIVERSITY OF THE AEGEAN - RHODES

11:00 Arrival of participants

11:10 Introduction and Welcome by Dr. Ioannis Seimenis, Dean of the School of Humanities, the University of the Aegean and by Dr Nabil Al Sharif, Executive Director, Anna Lindh Foundation

11:30 Intercultural Analysis and Panel Debate with the participation of:
14:00

- Overview on the Anna Lindh Foundation; Purpose and methodology of the Anna Lindh Report; Intercultural Trends data as a social foundation for a Mediterranean Intercultural Citizenship

Eleonora Insalaco, Head of Intercultural Research and Programming, Anna Lindh Foundation

- Intercultural Cities in the Euro-Mediterranean region from data to operational proposals; The role of women in society Women as central actors of dialogue

Aliki Moschis-Gauguet, Member of the Anna Lindh Foundation Advisory Council and President-Founder of FAM Network

- The Anna Lindh Foundation structure as a network of networks and the current civil society challenges in the region and Greece; Innovative models for civil society dialogue

Stefanos Vallianatos, International Relation Department and Head of Anna Lindh Foundation Network in Greece, Hellenic Foundation for Culture on

Questions and answers sessions foreseen at the end of each presentation

14:00 Closing

The INTERCULTURAL TRENDS REPORT of the Anna Lindh Foundation, established in 2010 with the support of the 42 Member States of the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership and the European Union, represents a landmark study on cross-cultural trends and social change across Europe and the southern Mediterranean. The REPORT, entering its third edition this year, is based on a unique public opinion survey carried out with citizens on both sides of the Mediterranean, as an instrument for measuring trends in cultural relations and triggering action for change at the policy level of regional cooperation. The Anna Lindh Report 2018 is based on the results of the Intercultural Trends Survey, commissioned by the Foundation and carried out by Ipsos, conducted in eight European countries (Austria, Croatia, Finland, France, Italy, Poland, Portugal and the Netherlands) and five Southern Mediterranean (SEM) countries/territories (Algeria, Israel, Jordan, Palestine and Tunisia).

Academic dissemination in partnership with:

Funded by